Equality vs Equity

- Equality = treating others similarly
- Equity = allocating exact resources needed to reach an equal outcome

An intersectional approach to equality

“Intersectionality is an analytic sensibility, a way of thinking about identity and its relationship to power.”

The 'business case' for ED&I:

- ▶ Have committed and motivated staff who feel fairly treated, respected, and included.
- ▶ Attract new talent and fresh perspectives.
- ▶ Nurture creativity, innovation and flexibility.
- ▶ Maximise and retain valued skills, knowledge and expertise.
- ▶ Maintain a strong brand and positively benchmark your workplace alongside other organisations including in relation to employment and services.

The data suggests diversity correlates with better financial performance.

Gendered ideas of leadership...

A big challenge when it comes to gender equality is to get more women to work in senior roles. We need to take a closer look at the way we think about leadership. To make gender equality work we need to get more women to work in senior roles.

“... a strong relationship between practices of personal and collective transformation; use of [generative] power for positive change; and creative collaborations that influence social norms, deep cultures, structures and processes are necessary for transformative leadership to advance women’s rights.”

(Wakefield, 2017, 16)

Discussion

Who do you think of when you imagine a good leader?

Positive Action

What is 'positive action'?

Where an employer reasonably thinks people who share a protected characteristic:

- a. experience a disadvantage connected to that characteristic; or
- b. have needs that are different from the needs of persons who do not share that characteristic; or
- c. have disproportionately low participation in an activity

The employer may take any action which is proportionate to:

- ▶ Minimise that disadvantage
- ▶ Meet those needs
- ▶ Encourage participation

Positive action:

the law under the
Equality Act 2010

‘Positive action is when an organisation voluntarily takes steps to help or encourage certain groups of people with different needs, or who are disadvantaged in some way, access work or training’

‘Positive discrimination means treating one person more favourably than another on the ground of that individual’s protected characteristics.’

But many women in STEM seem to manage...?

Isn't it patronising
to offer women
extra support?

If we run girls-only events, will we put off the boys?

Will we get sued
for positive discrimination?

Common Concerns Regarding Positive Action

Where's the line?

Positive Action

- Encourages
- Before recruitment
- Lawful

- E.g. arranging a women-only site visit to a STEM employer

Positive Discrimination

- Favours
- After recruitment
- Generally unlawful

- E.g. guaranteeing interviews to women candidates

Positive action measures are ONE route of many that are needed to create change

Examples of positive action

Envisioning the ideal organisation

- ▶ What would a healthy and socially effective organisation look like?
- ▶ What is the atmosphere like - is it relaxed, cheerful?
- ▶ What is the quality of the relationship between the people there? Is it supportive, truthful, respectful, appreciative, equal?
- ▶ How do people in formal leadership roles behave?
- ▶ How does the wider community feel about the organisational values and actions?
- ▶ Working backwards, identify the values in place that make this organisation the way it is.
  - ▶ For each value, identify the action that supports it. For example, if the value is 'openness', does that mean staff are encouraged to speak openly?
